

Dentons wins Property and Construction Team of the Year at the LexisNexis Qatar Business Law Forum & Awards 2016

November 21, 2016

Doha —Dentons has won Property and Construction Team of the Year at the LexisNexis Qatar Business Law Forum & Awards 2016 held in Doha last week.

Organised by LexisNexis, the world-leading global provider of legal information, in partnership with the College of Law of Qatar University, Qatar Foundation and the Association of Corporate Counsel (ACC) Middle East, The LexisNexis Qatar Business Law Forum & Awards 2016 was the very first legal event and awards celebration for the legal community in Qatar.

The LexisNexis Qatar Business Law Forum Awards 2016 recognise the exceptional achievements from within Qatar's legal community with a judging panel composed of industry leaders, comprising academic practitioners and government officials.

Dentons' top-rated Middle East construction and dispute resolution team has an in-depth understanding of the nuances of each local market, stemming from more than 50 years of experience advising on major projects in the region. Dentons Doha office opened its doors over 10 years ago and remains one of the largest, longest established and most stable of the international firms in the market with a strong team of 10 fee-earners who are permanently based in Doha.

Our Doha construction team has been involved in nearly every major project in Qatar over the past few years, including a broad spectrum of local and regional developments such as retail complexes, residential developments, hospitals and healthcare complexes, hotel and leisure developments and large energy and infrastructure projects.

Commenting on the win, Partner and Head of Construction in the Middle East at Dentons Andrew Jones said : "We are delighted to be given this award. It is a testament to the continued growth of our Qatar Construction practice and the diverse, exciting and challenging projects that our talented team has advised on across the region. "

Managing Partner of the Doha office, Safwan Moubaydeen, added, "This award is yet another big recognition for the team's continuing hard work with all our great clients across the region. "
