Dentons joins PLASA Advisory Board

2026

Dentons joins PLASA Advisory Board–Dentons is pleased to announce its appointment to the Advisory Board of the Pharmaceutical Logistics Association of South Africa (PLASA).

PLASA plays an important role in promoting excellence across South Africa's pharmaceutical supply chain, bringing together industry participants involved in the storage, transportation and distribution of pharmaceutical products. Through this collaboration, Dentons will work alongside PLASA and its members to support legal, regulatory and commercial discussions impacting the sector.

As the world's largest global law firm, Dentons advises clients across the pharmaceutical, healthcare and life sciences sectors on a wide range of legal and business matters. The Firm's Life Sciences team supports industry participants on regulatory compliance, commercial agreements, employment and labour matters, corporate transactions, governance, risk management, dispute resolution and cross-border operations.

With 12,000+ lawyers and a presence in more than 80 countries, Dentons is uniquely positioned to assist organisations navigating increasingly complex regulatory frameworks and business environments. The Firm's global platform enables clients to access coordinated legal advice across multiple jurisdictions while addressing local market requirements.

Karabo Motsamai, Co-lead, Healthcare & Life Sciences, Dentons Africa, said:

> "The healthcare and life sciences sector plays a vital role in supporting healthcare access, innovation and economic growth. We are delighted to join the PLASA Advisory Board and contribute to the important work the organisation undertakes on behalf of its members and the wider industry."

> "The appointment reflects Dentons' commitment to supporting participants across the pharmaceutical value chain. By combining our legal capabilities, sector knowledge and global reach, we look forward to contributing to discussions on the opportunities and challenges facing the industry and supporting its sustainable growth."

The appointment further strengthens Dentons' position as a trusted advisor to pharmaceutical, healthcare and life sciences businesses operating in South Africa and across the continent. The Firm looks forward to working alongside PLASA and its members to support a resilient, compliant, and innovative pharmaceutical ecosystem.
