Overview

Elliott Portnoy is the Global Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Dentons, the largest law firm in the world.

As Global CEO, Elliott is responsible for management of the global Firm and its unwavering commitment to integrated client service. Under Elliott's leadership, Dentons is experiencing a period of exceptional growth and success.

Prior to the formation of Dentons, Elliott served as the youngest chairman of Sonnenschein Nath & Rosenthal, which later became SNR Denton, one of the firms that combined to create Dentons. He joined Sonnenschein in 2002, founding its public policy practice and building a bipartisan cadre of lawyers and policy professionals into a team that Legal Times' "Influence 50" survey called one of Washington, DC's "top 10 lobbying practices." Roll Call ranked the practice as one of the top 25 in the US, and Chambers USA designated it one of the firm's outstanding practices.

Elliott serves on the Board of Directors of Catalyst, a global nonprofit working with some of the world's most powerful CEOs and leading companies to help build workplaces that accelerate and advance women into leadership. He also serves on the Board of Trustees for Syracuse University.

Community service has been a constant in Elliott's life. In addition to his nonprofit board service, he founded and remains on the Board of Directors of Kids Enjoy Exercise Now (KEEN), an innovative nonprofit that provides sports opportunities to children with severe and profound disabilities in the US and the UK. KEEN has provided service to thousands of children in Washington, Chicago, London, Los Angeles, New York, Oxford, Phoenix, San Francisco and St. Louis, and has trained more than 50,000 volunteers to serve young people with disabilities since its founding in 1989. He has received multiple awards for his work with KEEN, including recognition by Washingtonian magazine as a "Washingtonian of the Year."

That same commitment to social responsibility is reflected in Dentons' support of nonprofit organizations and its partnerships with clients to improve local communities. Elliott promotes pro bono legal work and inclusion as vital components of the Firm's mission and has been a vocal advocate of Dentons' relationships with nonprofit organizations around the world.

Elliott earned his PhD as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University and is a graduate of Harvard Law School and Syracuse University.

Recognition

Elliott has been recognized as a prominent public policy lawyer by multiple publications and organizations, including successive editions of Chambers USA, most recently as a "Top Washington Lawyer." He has also been called "inspiring" and a "dynamic and ambitious go-getter" by the Washington Business Journal, and cited as one of the top lobbyists in the nation by Washingtonian magazine. In addition, he has received multiple awards from nonprofit organizations for his community service and pro bono contributions.
