

Overview

Adaptability is key when serving the continually evolving financial marketplace of Central and Eastern Europe (CEE). Despite recent world economic volatility, the value of the financial sector is still growing strongly in this dynamic region.

Dentons provides you with highly practical and effective responses to your business needs. And when those needs change, we adjust to meet them.

With over 90 lawyers, our financial institutions team in CEE provides you with a holistic approach. When the need arises, our lawyers draw on the expertise of Dentons' specialists in areas such as taxation, corporate and capital markets. With access to the experience of our offices in more than 50 countries including over 250 lawyers dedicated to financial institutions in Europe alone, we have you covered. Turn to Dentons for solutions-oriented advice on a broad range of areas including:

- Asset finance
- Banking secrecy
- Commercial banking
- Compliance and regulation
- Corporate finance
- Data privacy
- Taxation
- Debt and equity capital markets
- Real estate
- Export financing
- Leasing and asset finance
- Lending and other banking transactions
- Corporate governance
