

Insurance Administrative Hearings and Appeals

Overview

When you require representation before insurance regulators in connection with administrative proceedings, count on Dentons' lawyers.

We have the industry, regulatory and litigation expertise to help you develop tactics and strategies to attain the most favorable outcome possible. With deep knowledge of the specific rules and regulations governing these matters, our lawyers become your strongest allies at hearings on rate applications, orders to show cause, orders to cease and desist and notices of noncompliance.

In the event you have an adverse administrative decision, we go to work to prosecute civil lawsuits and appeals, seeking to overturn adverse results.

With Dentons on your team, you always have a guide at your side helping to navigate the complex, challenging regulatory environment ahead.
