

Overview

Reinsurance presents a wide variety of worldwide possibilities. Operating in this truly global marketplace, you are faced with complex and challenging multi-party international transactions. Everything from acquisitions and mergers to the use of cat bonds—and often these ventures are billion dollar transactions.

Dentons can help drive your plans. And with our understanding of global financial markets and financial regulatory reform in the US, we can help you take advantage of the global opportunities this environment brings.

Benefit from knowledge shaped through extensive experience across the sector, helping with everything from relatively simple two-party agreements through to the most complex international transactions. We bring you this worldwide understanding of the reinsurance sector and the ability to design your reinsurance programs, including drafting your quota share and excess agreements, pooling, captives, assumption/novation, loss portfolio transfer, and master facultative agreements.

And when disputes arise with your ceding company or reinsurance company, your Dentons team has the know-how and experience to help you resolve those disputes, whether in international arbitration proceedings or your local court. We understand your business, we know the process, and we can help you resolve your reinsurance disputes.

Look to our lawyers as your trusted partners for effective solutions across the reinsurance sector.
