

Overview

We have extensive cross-discipline experience providing business, legal and regulatory advice to clients who operate, serve, lend and invest in health care.

Dentons works with private equity and venture capital investors, investment banks, commercial banks, hospitals and health systems, pharmaceutical companies, senior living and other health care service providers and other clients that need or provide capital, assist in raising capital, or invest or participate in transactions in the health care sector.

Whether you work in tax-exempt finance, private equity, need capital or finance health care, have a question on existing or potential financing or want to discuss industry trends, our team of more than 200 health care lawyers and professionals bring deep finance, health care, tax, policy restructuring and litigation experience.