

Physicians and Physician Organizations (United States)

Overview

Dentons' lawyers have extensive experience representing physicians and physician groups, including both single- and multi-specialty groups. We regularly provide counsel with respect to a vast array of regulatory matters, including Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement issues, medical staff activities and hospital bylaws.

If you're a physician client, turn to us for counsel on malpractice insurance issues, peer review activities, immunity and National Practitioner Data Bank issues, Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) privacy and security compliance and disciplinary activities.

Our lawyers also advise physicians and physician groups on the fraud and abuse implications of their various business arrangements, particularly under federal and state anti-kickback, physician self-referral, fee-splitting, and related laws and regulations.

Leverage our experience in handling sophisticated transactions on behalf of physicians and physician groups, including physician practice mergers and acquisitions and physician-hospital joint ventures.

Our team also handles day-to-day corporate governance and contracting issues for physician and physician group clients, including practice formation, employment matters, exclusive hospital contracting, managed care contracting, and billing and collection issues.

Our areas of focus include:

- Antitrust and competition
- Clinical research and clinical trials
- Corporate and transactional matters
- Coverage and reimbursement
- Fraud and abuse and corporate compliance
- Government relations and public policy
- Health information technology and e-health
- Litigation Privacy and HIPAA compliance
- Regulatory counseling
