

Special Tax and Specific Tax-Related Matters

Overview

Your business is subject to a significant number of specific, complex industry sector taxes or health care charges. The burden this creates is often equivalent to corporate income tax. Dentons' Life Sciences tax team has in-depth knowledge of the taxes you face, combined with vast experience in transfer pricing, mergers and acquisitions, reorganizations and international taxation. And of course, we know your business and your challenges.

We work with you to address thorny tax issues in a proactive manner. We help you navigate audits and negotiations with the relevant authorities. When disputes arise, we have the right lawyers to advocate for you in various tribunals around the globe or in arbitration.

In this complex tax and health care charges environment, you need solutions to a wide variety of complex issues, frequently across multiple taxing jurisdictions. Taxes and health care charges that impact you are constantly being added or amended. We are at your side to develop a proactive approach, customized to your challenges.

You work hard to improve the lives and health of patients—and you need to do so profitably. Dentons' Life Sciences tax team works to find business-oriented solutions to keep your profits healthy.
