

Overview

Dentons is a preferred law firm for arbitration around the world, with dedicated international arbitration lawyers practising throughout the Gulf region, including in Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and the UAE. As the only global law firm with such extensive geographical coverage in the Middle East, we act on the largest and most complex disputes before both domestic and international tribunals.

Whether you are a leading business or financial institution operating in the Middle East, with either international or local scope, our team of arbitrators from both common and civil law backgrounds will guide you through proceedings in either English or Arabic. A number of our lawyers also sit as arbitrators, giving us further insight into arbitration strategies across the region and beyond.

Our experience covers all the major international arbitration institutions and rules, as well as those located in the region, including ICC, LCIA, UNCITRAL, Dubai International Arbitration Centre (DIAC), the DIFC LCIA Arbitration Centre (DIFC-LCIA), Abu Dhabi Commercial Conciliation and Arbitration Centre (ADCCAC), Cairo Regional Centre for International Commercial Arbitration (CRCICA), AAA and ICSID.

As one of the most active practices in the Gulf, Dentons not only represents you in international arbitrations, but also advises on and assists in initiating arbitral proceedings, and on enforcing arbitral awards in local jurisdictions. We are recognized for our global reach and in-depth understanding in handling arbitrations in the fields of energy, financial institutions, construction projects and infrastructure and hotels in the region.
