

Overview

Dentons' lawyers provide clients with forward-thinking guidance on all corporate advisory and governance-related matters, including corporate board structures and procedures.

Using our experience in creating and evaluating board committee charters and mandates, Dentons can effectively address corporate governance concerns and satisfy compliance obligations. We advise a variety of board committees, including those with oversight of a range of activities, such as:

- Audit
- Compensation
- Environment
- Health and safety
- Pension funds
- Corporate social responsibility
- Director nominations

We also advise independent committees on special situations in governance, such as specific transactions, internal reviews and crisis management.

Dentons' experience and presence around the world allows us to provide clients with best practice and pragmatic advice in establishing the right structure and responsibilities of any board committee to fit your company's needs.
