

Overview

Dentons acts as counsel to boards, special committees, audit committees, compensation committees, internal investigations committees, senior management, officers and other leaders of business and financial institutions. Whether the issue involves corporate control, a financial transaction, a proxy contest or an unwelcome acquisition proposal, or you are facing a disclosure matter, a conflict or allegations of improper behavior, Dentons brings a unique blend of legal analysis, business experience, and nuanced judgment in addressing the situation. Our team is mindful that extraordinary events can potentially interfere with normal operations and create internal uncertainties that may be detrimental to building long-term value. We make a special effort to minimize the impact on the organization and the remainder of the leadership team, and we act expeditiously to bring the matter to an advantageous conclusion.