

Overview

As regulations governing corporate administration and business transactions become more onerous, the management of risk is playing a more prominent role in corporate life. You need a partner that understands these risks and the complexities of doing business in today's global economy.

Trust our Corporate group's depth and breadth of experience to guide you through the complexity of doing business in Australia and its neighboring regions. Our focus at all times is balancing your strategic and transactional interests with your legal obligations.

We work with you at every stage of your journey—from your major corporate dealings including capital raising, business and deal structures, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, corporate governance advice or major international cross-border transactions, to your day-to-day commercial and project-level needs including commercial contracts, procurement, IP&T, outsourcing and logistics. You can trust us with your most complex and important transactions.

You are supported by more than 70 corporate law professionals nationwide, many of whom have in excess of 25 years' experience, who have a depth of knowledge in the industries in which you operate. Whether it be energy and resources, infrastructure, transport, agribusiness, telecommunications, hospitality and tourism or government, just to name a few, you will work with lawyers who are committed to understanding your business and your industry.

Benefit from a corporate team which spans across our Australian offices and united with our global offices for access to targeted capabilities across the world. This platform provides you with the confidence that you will receive the highest quality advice where you need it.

The objective is simple. We take the time to get to know your business. We help you navigate the world's changing landscape and are your partners along your journey.
