

Overview

Taking care of the day to day, every day, for busy legal teams

Dentons Helix is a premium managed service that supports some of the UK's leading companies in the delivery of their low-to-medium complexity work.

We bring the cutting-edge process improvements, matter management techniques, technology and data analytics of the world's largest law firm to blue-chip brands, whose legal teams are looking to get the right balance of work across their function to improve efficiency and demonstrate value.

How it works

Each of our clients collaborates with a dedicated team of Dentons' lawyers and management consultants to streamline their workflow and delivery processes, freeing up their team's time while achieving cost reduction, budget predictability and quality MI and benchmarking to aid decision making.

Because we are all about making life easier, we offer a straightforward pricing model on a monthly retainer model.

Client testimonials

"Dentons has become a key part of our legal team. They have taken the low and medium complexity Commercial work off our plates and provide us with their expertise on the strategic matters when we need it. Although we could never have predicted it, having Dentons as our legal partner has helped us with the increased demand on legal throughout the pandemic."

- Hannah Hullah, General Counsel, John Lewis Partnership
