

Overview

Dentons Paz Horowitz has over 30 years of experience advising international and domestic clients on sophisticated M&A deals, joint ventures, corporate reorganizations as well as divestments and spin-offs. We have led important M&A processes for major clients in the mining, oil, education and tourism sectors, among others in Ecuador and have also participated in cross-border transactions.

Our team works together with experts in different fields to provide complete and comprehensive legal counsel and an economic perspective analysis to ensure that our clients' projects come to fruition and comply with all applicable laws and regulations.

Thanks to our extensive experience we ensure practical solutions to inevitable issues that arise in the process and create the appropriate transaction structure.

Key services include
