

Overview

Whether a German or an international company, private or public investor, association or municipality—with Dentons at your side, you are well advised on all public law issues. Trust us in all aspects of European, constitutional and administrative law as well as public policy—areas essential to your business.

We are familiar with all aspects of public law and are strongly committed to your interests. We have particular experience in the following areas:

- Environmental law
- Planning and building supervisory law
- Infrastructure law
- Public procurement and state aid
- Medical law (social law, pharmaceutical law and medical products regulations, pharmacy law, hospital financing and planning)
- Energy law
- Privacy laws
- Telecommunications
- Litigation before Administrative and Constitutional Courts

We support you with permits and approvals essential for your business and assist you in your day-to-day business in order to keep operational risks under control. In addition, we negotiate contracts under administrative law, provide profound expert opinions and offer public policy advice—also in legislative procedures. We incorporate our specialized public law expertise into legal due diligence assessments conducted by our Corporate, Finance and other practices.

Our clients include:

- German and international companies
- Private and public investors
- Public sector entities
- Associations
- Municipalities

In order to develop business-oriented, practical solutions, individually tailored to your needs, our practice group works in interdisciplinary teams with our Dentons offices globally. The focus of our cooperation lies particularly in the areas of real estate law, energy law, project financing, subsidies legislation and public procurement law, as well as cross-border work with North America, France, Spain and our Central and Eastern European offices.
