

Overview

Dentons Guevara & Gutierrez' Trusts, Estates and Wealth Preservation Group has the experience over the interrelated disciplines affecting estate planning and asset protection and expertise to handle planning of any level of complexity. Regardless of a client's net worth, planning revolves around specific desires, circumstances and when appropriate, problems.

We offer tax and planning advice for local jurisdictions but can also provide planning that encompasses the needs of clients who have assets or beneficiaries in practically any part of the globe.

Today's families are complex and family wealth frequently comes in the form of an interest in one or more businesses or real estate investments. Our team works with other related Dentons' practice groups to engage in business succession planning, to ensure the preservation of value through changes in leadership and to provide exit strategies, if appropriate.
