

Venture Technology and Emerging Growth Companies in Europe

Overview

The beauty of diversified Europe is that there are a number of hubs wishing to be labeled the “next Silicon Valley.” Whether in Berlin, London, Poznań or Warsaw, we collaborate with entrepreneurs committed to shaping the future and support investors across the continent.

Our dedicated Venture Technology team accompanies your high growth company development in your native environment and across all European markets and beyond—where you need to compete. When you are ready to go global, or are looking for international financing, our experts in London, New York, Palo Alto, San Francisco or in Asia are at your service.

Whether active in technology, gaming, energy or life sciences, any startup shares a common denominator: reliance on technical and business model innovations and often an uncertainty of the legal framework, which does not always keep to the same pace of advancement.

We are here to bridge the gap. Mobile payments, cloud computing, virtual currencies, Internet of Things—you won't need to teach your lawyer about the next big thing— we are active stakeholders and ready to engage with you.

In addition, tap into Dentons' unparalleled resources for startups and emerging growth companies, including our newly expanded ventureBeyond microsite.

Dentons has a strategic partnership with Techstars, the world's leading startup accelerator, and is the preferred law firm for startups in the Techstars program in Europe. Dentons has joined a distinguished list of organizations that work with Techstars to provide valuable educational content, mentorship and business advice, helping entrepreneurs fuel business growth and achieve their innovation goals. Through this partnership, Techstars companies based out of hubs in Paris, Berlin and Munich have access to legal services in 167+ locations in 73+ countries.

Reach out with confidence to our Venture Technology team in Europe for advice on company structuring, early stage financing, talent management, joint-ventures and exit strategies.
