

Overview

At the height of the resources boom, Western Australia was the engine room of Australia's economy and Perth was its services center.

On the global stage, the region remains a significant producer of a wide range of resource commodities and its economic base is diversifying with investment in new extraction and processing technologies.

Dentons' Perth office has remained a steady hand and experienced sounding board to the major local and global resource participants and its service industries during all recent economic cycles.

Whether a lender, investor or borrower, benefit from a team whose members are ranked as leaders in handling large, complex and innovative transactions in the mining sector, in particular the field of oil and gas.

Local and international financial institutions remain long-standing clients as a result of our ability to prepare securities and structure loan facilities suitable for specific industries. They continue to be impressed by our skill in enforcing securities through cost-effective dispute resolution measures.

When borrowers are in default, have confidence in a dispute resolution and litigation team that holds a tenacious reputation and strong track record in the marketplace for realizing successful outcomes.

Rely on the experience of the team in handling, from start to finish, major infrastructure projects and residential and commercial property developments, both domestic and international.

Cross-border investors and operators are supported wherever they do business through our skilled colleagues located in more than 140 offices around the globe.

Work with a team committed to delivering successful outcomes in all scenarios, from the simple to the most technical and complex.
