

China Desk in Sydney

Australia has long been an attractive location for Chinese companies and investors seeking to expand offshore. Australian companies also look to China as a key market for products and a key manufacturing hub in the region. Whether you are looking to invest or extend your operations into Australia or to expand your operations in the PRC, our China desk has the legal capabilities you need.

With a cross-disciplinary team of senior partners and bilingual lawyers, our China desk combines experience with innovation and agility to assist you with all aspects of your transaction. We can help you navigate Australia's increasingly complex foreign investment laws and regulations, including advising you on the China-Australia Free Trade Agreement, the Foreign Investment Review Board application process and compliance with Australian legislation, as well as the best tax and corporate structures for your business or deal.

In addition, you can access our industry and government connections to help you overcome the challenges of entering the Australian market. We can connect you to reliable accountants, consultants, project managers, real estate agents and many others to help you establish your business activities in Australia.
