

French Desk in Warsaw

The Dentons' French desk integrates French-speaking lawyers and tax advisers throughout the firm from New York to Shanghai—giving you global lawyers who speak your language, know your business practices and culture, and combine this with a strong, longstanding commitment in each country involved.

The Dentons Approach

At Dentons we take every angle into consideration to make sure we provide our clients a tailored approach to their business and culture when advising them in relation to their investments anywhere in the world, from any of the 52 countries in which we are present. We have dedicated teams who either speak French or work for French speaking clients on a recurrent basis and therefore have a good understanding of the work methods, practices and concepts used by clients.

The Team

The teams within the French Desk are led by French-qualified lawyers and native speakers who have acquired in-depth knowledge of the business issues you face, as well as legal systems in the country where you operate.

The wider team also includes foreign partners who have acquired advanced French-language proficiency through education or previous work experience in France and/or with major French clients. All members of the French Desk are proficient in at least three languages (French, English and a local language).
