German Desk in Bucharest

Whether you are from Germany, Austria, Switzerland or any other German-speaking community around the globe, Dentons' German desk - also known as Global German Practice - can help you. Dentons' founding firms have been amongst the leading law firms in their respective regions for many years. The Global German Practice integrates German-speaking lawyers and tax advisers throughout the firm to serve your global needs. The members of our group speak your language and know your business practices and culture.

Rest assured that at Dentons you will work with lawyers who can deliver legal services through your lens: they know the German-speaking countries' legal systems as well as German-speaking countries' business customs. They also have an awareness and understanding of the unique cultures in these countries. In addition, our team utilizes its knowledge of the local markets in which you choose to do business, building effective bridges and providing you with an added competitive advantage.

Our teams are led by German-qualified lawyers – native speakers who have lived and worked for many years in the local markets and have acquired an in-depth knowledge of the business issues you face. The
