

Overview

Munich is one of the leading economic regions in Europe. The financially strong and rapidly growing city is, in particular due to its excellent business environment, of enormous importance for the German economy—both nationally and internationally.

The city has special relevance for investors of important European and global industries. Market participants from the automotive and real estate industries as well as private equity investors and agents of the healthcare sector enjoy a well-developed infrastructure—along with all the advantages of a renowned center of education in Europe.

Since 2019, Dentons now counts a total of four offices in Germany (Berlin, Frankfurt, Munich, Dusseldorf). In Munich, our locally anchored team has particular experience in the areas of Corporate/M&A, joint ventures, private equity, restructuring, litigation and tax. From Munich we serve a variety of national and international clients. In addition, we assist you with all legal issues arising from everyday business and in matters of strategic planning.
