

Overview

Milan is the capital of Lombardy, which is one of the 20 administrative regions of Italy accounting for 22% of the country's GDP, and is the main destination of Foreign Direct Investments to Italy.

The vibrant and dynamic Milan is the main commercial, industrial and financial center in Italy. Continuously attracting new business activities, it is the European city with the highest density of multinational companies amounting to 3,000 with over 274,000 employees and € 175 billion of turnover.

Home to the Italian Stock Exchange, Milan represents a unique range of opportunities for institutional investors such as banks and investment funds in all asset classes.

Our professionals at Dentons' Milan office provide you with a wide range of legal services, combining high-quality technical skills with a sophisticated approach and business acumen.

The team in Milan partners with the other Italian professionals based in Rome to offer comprehensive assistance throughout Italy, and works with the European and global practice groups to deal with cross-border transactions or disputes.
