

Overview

Nicknamed the Magic City because of its rapid growth in the early 1900s, Birmingham is both the geographic and economic center of Alabama. While manufacturing continues to be a cornerstone of the city's economy, the Birmingham of today is much more diversified. It is the nation's 12th-largest banking center, as well as a hub for biotechnology and world-class medical research advances, owing to developments made at the University of Alabama at Birmingham and the Southern Research Institute. Birmingham is also home to Innovation Depot—the largest business incubator program in the Southeastern US.

With a Fortune 500 company, Birmingham is also a powerhouse of construction and engineering companies. The market for downtown lofts and condominiums has increased, while restaurant, retail and cultural options have expanded. And we at Dentons Sirote have been here for all of it.

The lawyers in Dentons Sirote's Birmingham office collaborate across areas of experience and practices to deliver superior outcomes and solutions to clients from diverse industries in connection with matters ranging from corporate transactions, health care, real estate, government contracts and commercial litigation to labor and employment, white collar and government investigations, tax planning, tax controversies and estate planning and administration.
