

Overview

Home of the renowned Kentucky Derby, which takes place every May, Louisville's business climate thrives in the health care, logistics, manufacturing and food-and-beverage industries. According to the Greater Louisville Metro Chamber of Commerce, 95 percent of the world's bourbon is produced in Kentucky.

Our lawyers serve as outside general counsel to privately held companies, and handle transactions and litigation for companies of all sizes, from startups to the Fortune 500 brands. We provide full-service business and tax counsel, helping clients manage risks, close deals and identify, evaluate and pursue new opportunities. In addition to transactions and litigation, our services include estate planning, tax strategies, employee benefits plan design and administration, and advising business and governmental clients on economic development projects.

We have been recognized by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce as one of the "Best Places to Work in Kentucky."

Louisville lawyers have earned rankings in Chambers USA: America's Leading Lawyers for Business; been honored by Benchmark Litigation and Kentucky Super Lawyers; and been named "Lawyers of the Year" by The Best Lawyers in America. Chambers & Partners' High Net Worth guideranked our estate-planning group one of the region's preeminent private wealth law practices.

Samuel L. Greenebaum, with two other Louisville lawyers, opened the office in 1952 under the name of Greenebaum and Barnett. Years later in 1970, it became the first large firm in Louisville to have a female partner, displaying a commitment to diversity that continues today.
