

Overview

Often referred to as the “Crossroads of the West,” Salt Lake City, the capital of Utah and the state’s most populous city, has also become a hub for business. Appearing on list after list of top-performing cities in the US, Salt Lake City’s economy is remarkably stable, thanks to both its forward-thinking, business-friendly policies and homegrown capital investment. Additionally, its population has become increasingly diverse. Since 2010, migration from other countries has accounted for 41 percent of Utah’s inbound growth. Additionally, Utah ranks second in the nation in its citizens’ support for LGBTQ non-discrimination protections, according to a poll by the Public Religion Research Institute.

Salt Lake City ranks among the top US states for business and personal income growth, family prosperity and quality of life. According to the most recent Hachman Index, Utah leads the nation in economic diversity, and Forbes has listed Utah as the “top state for business” five times in the past ten years.

The lawyers in Dentons Durham Jones Pinegar’s Salt Lake City office offer a broad mix of legal services to a wide range of clients, including individuals, public and private companies, and educational and charitable organizations. Our lawyers have handled complex business and finance transactions, banking-related matters and commercial litigation, as well as intellectual property, bankruptcy, real estate, tax, estate planning, employment, family law, and immigration matters, among other areas.

Salt Lake City-based lawyers have been recognized in Chambers USA: America’s Leading Lawyers for Business and Chambers High Net Worth Guide, honored as “Lawyers of the Year” in The Best Lawyers in America, named to the Mountain States Super Lawyers list and included in Utah Business’s Legal Elite.

Your Key Contacts

United States

N. Todd Leishman

President and Chairman,
Dentons Durham Jones
Pinegar, Salt Lake City

D +1 801 297 1123

M +1 801 390 6482

todd.leishman@dentons.com