

Overview

Innovation. Creativity. Entrepreneurship. For decades, Silicon Valley has represented the very heart of the global technology revolution. That's why Dentons' Silicon Valley office has developed an industry-leading reputation for the kind of creative solutions technology firms and their customers, investors and funders require for success.

Our team of highly skilled lawyers has extensive experience in the business and legal issues that technology companies face, including IP litigation, patent prosecution, venture capital funding and more. Further, we can leverage the resources of lawyers across the US and around the world to meet your needs, no matter how complex or time-sensitive the transaction.

Whether you are a top technology company, venture capital fund, investment bank or an individual entrepreneur, Dentons' Silicon Valley office can help you navigate the right path to meeting your needs and achieving your goals.
