

Canada US client update: Insights into policies that impact Canada/US relations, business issues and the future of trade

March 14, 2017

Dentons is pleased to provide this periodic briefing on developments in Washington that impact Canada/US relations. To ensure we continue delivering premium legal services to our clients, we are committed to remaining current by tracking and updating matters relating to numerous industry sectors.

In this briefing, we have focused on the major topics of trade and tax policy, energy and environmental matters, border management and infrastructure and agriculture and financial services updates.

Also included is the larger context of the news that is dominating headlines and attention in Washington, as well as key industry players for each of the above-mentioned sectors.
