

Energy and Utilities Sector Roundtable

December 2013

Dentons global energy sector leader Clint Vince participated in a roundtable discussion of the challenges facing the energy and utilities sectors around the globe for Financier Worldwide magazine. In the December 2013 issue, Clint covers the impact of major new trends in the sector, with particular attention to the United States. His discussion includes several major themes: the US is becoming a net energy exporter; much innovation is coming from state governments, not the federal government; infrastructure development is urgently needed to replace and update the existing electrical grid. Clint is joined in the roundtable discussion by longtime client, CPS Energy CEO Doyle Beneby, who addresses the challenges utility leaders face in this era of uncertainty.
