Email sign-offs – The far-reaching consequences email communication has on contractual obligations

February 11, 2020

By a recent common law decision, a precedent has been set to the effect that an email sign-off shows an intention to connect one's name with the contents of the email and therefore can create contractual obligations between parties.

Last month the European Commission published an updated Best Available Techniques (BAT) Reference Document and BAT Conclusions document for the food, drink and milk industry.

What If a Border Agents Seeks Your Smartphone That Includes Client Secrets?

January 23, 2020

Lawyers in the modern age are accustomed to traveling with their devices, which keep them connected at all times.

However, concerns over potential violations of attorney-client privilege at borders and airports have prompted the ABA to provide recommendations to traveling attorneys.
