

Arbitration from Dentons

Arbitration from Dentons is a podcast series with a focus on international arbitration brought to you by the group at Dentons. With more than 40 partners and 120 lawyers, we are an integrated global team, working across offices and regions to best meet your needs. Our team is widely recognized as an elite specialist group globally, trusted by corporations, States and high net worth individuals for their most challenging international arbitrations.

International Arbitration

In this podcast series our hosts and their esteemed guests will offer short, insightful contents you can listen to on-demand, whenever and wherever you like. We will provide you with the tools to help you navigate various opportunities to overcome your business challenges and highlight key consideration for using international arbitration to resolve your international disputes.

Subscribe

Subscribe to our Arbitration from Dentons podcast on your preferred platform and listen at your convenience.

Showing 1 - 9 of Total Results (9)

Key contacts

Rachel A. Howie, FCI Arb

Partner,

Calgary

Calgary

D +1 403 268 6353

rachel.howie@dentons.com

James Langley

Partner,

London

London

D +44 20 7246 7440

M +44 7814 024954

james.langley@dentons.com

Episode 9: Reflections on investor-state disputes

March 2, 2021

Global: In this episode, your host Rachel Howie interviews Bart Legum, head of Dentons' investment treaty arbitration practice, on considerations for investors and states in investor-state arbitration.

Episode 8: Disputing and defending arbitral

jurisdiction

December 1, 2020

Global: Join our hosts Rachel Howie and Amy Kläsener as they interview Lawrence Teh, senior partner, Dentons Rodyk, on challenging arbitral jurisdictions. During this episode, we tackle the issues that arise when parties are challenging or defending jurisdictions, addressing how one can look at pursuing or defending challenges as they arise.

Episode 7: International arbitration in the renewable energy industry

October 22, 2020

Global: International arbitration (IA) continues to be a popular dispute resolution mechanism in the renewables energy industry. During this episode, Rachel Howie and Amy Kläsener interview Dentons Madrid partner Ristead de Paor on current trends and recent developments in arbitration and what lies ahead as we move into this new dynamic.

Episode 6: Virtual Hearings - is this our new dynamic?

October 8, 2020

Global: International arbitrations have continued through video-conference over the last several months. Our guests, Michael Schafler and Alastair Young will share their experiences and their lessons learned for in-house counsel as companies continue to shift in this new dynamic.

Episode 5: International arbitration in the oil and gas sector

September 18, 2020

Global: International arbitration (IA) in the oil and gas industry has become a popular dispute resolution mechanism. During this episode, Amy Kläsener interviews our partners Liz Tout and James Langley on the trends and recent developments in this field and what lies ahead as we move into this new dynamic.

Episode 4: Existing disputes: impacts from COVID and what do you do?

July 28, 2020

Global: In our previous episode, we looked at how some of the most urgent issues are being handled and petitions for interim relief, whether before emergency arbitrators or the courts. In this episode, we take a look at how existing disputes are being impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic and how hearings are moving ahead (and in some instances, have come to a standstill).

Episode 3: Emergency arbitrator proceedings and interim relief in the New Dynamic

July 17, 2020

Global: In this episode we interview senior partner Kirindeep Singh of Dentons' Singapore office. In the last episode, we looked at the approaches institutions are taking to tailor their procedures in response to the global pandemic. In this episode, we look at how the most urgent issues are being handled and petitions for interim relief, whether before emergency arbitrators or the courts.

Episode 2: Overcoming the challenges

June 30, 2020

Global: In our second episode, Amy Kläsener and Rachel Howie interview Dentons Hong Kong partner Robert Rhoda on the challenges the arbitral institutions are facing in these unique times.

Episode 1: Finding a resolution in a new dynamic

June 12, 2020

Global: In our first episode, Amy Kläsener and Rachel Howie will cover drafting tips, as well as changes to international arbitration practice and remote video proceedings.