

Overview

We recognize that many businesses are entering into uncharted territory as vast numbers of people adapt the way in which they work. As the world's largest law firm, we are living this experience as you are. We recognize that businesses need help with a number of aspects of agile working – from optimizing tech to managing and motivating teams, in addition to practical guidance on legal issues to consider, across jurisdictions. This hub seeks to share some of the ideas and tips that we at Dentons are utilizing ourselves through NextTalent Agile's talent management development program founded on data-driven behavioral science along with insights from Nextlaw, Dentons wholly owned subsidiary, including Nextlaw In-House Solutions' team of former General Counsel, technology and operations specialists, in collaboration with Nextlaw Labs.

Key resources

Legal operations and technology

Risk management
and compliance

People and culture