

Overview

Dentons is one of the leading law firms in Canada and globally. We combine strong technical skills, innovative problem-solving techniques and practical business advice with unparalleled understanding of the sectors involved in Plan Nord. Our long-standing involvement with industries involved in Plan Nord means that we know how it became what it is today, and where it's headed in the future. Our different practice areas, such as mining, energy, construction, infrastructure, labour, tax, joint ventures and co-ownerships, securities and environmental and Aboriginal law, work together to ensure high level services for our clients.

That seamless service extends throughout our firm. With offices in Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Toronto, Ottawa and Montréal, our clients can access our full range of expertise.

Hailed as one of the largest and most ambitious projects ever undertaken by Québec, Plan Nord is an economic, social and environmental development plan aimed at strengthening Québec's economy and global competitiveness by leveraging sustainable development partnerships.

Plan Nord will focus on the development of the area of almost 1.2 million km² in Northern Québec above the 49th parallel, including Nunavik, James Bay, the northern portion of Lac-Saint-Jean, and much of the Côte-Nord region. Spanning 25 years, this plan will be divided into five five-year phases and will engage the First Nations, the Inuit and local communities, demonstrating respect and appreciation of their interests and needs.

The purpose of the Government investments is to facilitate economic growth through the development of the mining, forestry, energy, tourism and other industries that are important to Quebec.

The policy directions and priority actions for the implementation of the Plan Nord are presented in the document The Plan Nord toward 2035, 2015-2020 Action Plan.
