Overview

Randy Bregman is a member of Dentons' Federal Regulation and Compliance practice.

Randy has focused his practice on the Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union region for more than 25 years and has significant experience in corporate, policy and trade matters. He advises Western clients and clients in the region in a diverse range of industries, including banking and finance, oil, steel, pharmaceuticals, telecommunications and consumer goods. He has also supervised litigation and administrative disputes in the former Soviet Union.

Randy regularly advises corporations and investors on issues related to compliance with anti-bribery laws and practices. He has particular experience with US sanctions issues and is closely involved with recent developments related to the new Russian sanctions regime. He has assisted both US and Russian companies in dealing with these new regulations.

Since 1987, Randy has advised government agencies in the CIS/CEE region on a range of policy issues related to creating the legal framework to promote economic growth and attract foreign investment. He has participated in long-term consultancy programs on privatization, anti-monopoly, anti-bribery and EU harmonization.
