Overview

Stephanie Murtagh is a member of Dentons' Health Care practice, resident in the Los Angeles office. Stephanie routinely counsels for-profit and nonprofit hospitals, health systems and physician groups on various regulatory and compliance matters.

Stephanie advises on internal and government investigations related to the False Claims Act, Stark Law and Anti-Kickback Statute. She has experience assisting clients in assessing and monitoring corporate compliance programs and managing the implementation of corporate integrity agreements.

Stephanie is also active in providing regulatory counsel with respect to telehealth arrangements. Her practice includes analyzing and structuring telemedicine agreements between hospital systems, practitioners and other institutional health care providers.

Prior to joining Dentons, Stephanie was a Legal Fellow in the Health Affairs & Technology Law Group at the University of California's Office of General Counsel, where she focused on issues related to health care fraud and abuse, clinical research compliance and Medicare/Medi-Cal reimbursement.
