Overview

Tracey Petter is the Director of Dispute Resolution Services. As a former partner in the Dispute Resolution department, Tracey has many years' experience of commercial litigation and arbitration. Particular areas of expertise include corporate disputes, media related litigation, competition disputes and heavyweight High Court employment litigation. She has also practised in Hong Kong. Whilst still undertaking some advisory work for clients, Tracey now heads the professional support team for the Dispute Resolution department. Her role involves identifying and anticipating forthcoming changes in both the procedural and substantive law affecting our practice and clients' businesses. Tracey devises and delivers a considerable amount of training, both within Dentons and externally to clients.
