Date and time:

April 13, 2021

12 – 1 p.m. ET

10 – 11 a.m. MT

9 – 10 a.m. PT

Thinking of taking your business public? Join us as we kick off Going Public in Canada: a fireside chat series – a behind the scenes look at what it takes to make the move from private to public.

Our series will include one hour discussions with industry experts and will explore and discuss trends and opportunities that our speakers have identified for companies contemplating going public in Canada. We will hear practical examples from knowledgeable leaders that have lived the experience of taking companies public in Canada. We will be covering - what to expect, IPO vs RTO, the dos and don'ts, how to properly coordinate with your service providers and professionals and much more.

First to join us on April 13, was Derek Lithwick (Managing Director, Investment Banking) from Stifel Financial Corp. With offices in Calgary, Montreal, and Toronto, Stifel GMP, the Canadian branch of Global Investment Bank Stifel Financial Corp, is a leading provider of investment banking services, including advisory and public and private underwriting, institutional sales and trading, and equity research services to corporate clients and institutional investors. Derek has been involved in advising, and raising capital for, many private companies looking to the public markets. Some of his recent relevant experience includes the initial TSX listings of GURU Organic Energy, Flow Water, Nuvei, Air Canada and many others. Joining Derek was our very own Scott Rozansky, the national lead of our securities and corporate finance group. Scott has recently advised and guided a number of private companies on their going public journey, assisting and structuring from a legal and strategic perspective.
