According to the results of 2020, Poland entered Ukraine's top three trading partners. Last year the total trading volume between Ukraine and Poland amounted to 7.36 billion dollars.

Accordingly, diligent tax planning of the investment structures and operating activities as well as the relocation of Ukrainians to work in Poland and vice versa, is becoming increasingly important. This comes with Ukraine introducing notable tax reforms, including the Anti-BEPS law which has already been implemented, the rules of foreign-controlled companies which will come into force in 2022, new regulations on qualifying non-resident activities in Ukraine as a permanent establishment and limitation of tax benefits applicable under double tax treaties.

We would like to invite you to an online meeting to discuss the practical application of these tax innovations for Ukrainian-Polish transactions.

Our partner of the event is Foreign Trade Office of Polish Investment and Trade Agency in Kyiv.

Agenda

Introduction – Karol Kubica, Head of the Foreign Trade Office of Polish Investment and Trade Agency in Kyiv (presentation in Polish with Polish-English simultaneous interpretation).

Presentation – Cezary Przygodzki, Partner, Head of Tax, Dentons, Warsaw and Valeria Tarasenko, Tax Consultant, Dentons, Kyiv (presentations in English with English-Polish simultaneous interpretation):

- Key Ukrainian and Polish tax changes and developments impacting businesses and operations in Ukraine (treaty benefits, new Anti-BEPS legislation, new tax proposals under the Polish Deal).
- Tax treatment of personal movements: Ukrainian residents moving to work in Poland, Poles moving to Ukraine (tax residency tests, tax risks for companies and employees).
- Distribution structures in Ukraine – key Ukrainian and Polish tax implications.
