

Dentons holds the CIS Anticorruption Compliance Conference

December 2, 2014

On November 26, 2014, Dentons CIS Competition lawyers from the Moscow, Almaty, Baku and Kyiv offices together along with their colleague from Stepanovski, Papakul & Partners Minsk (SPP) held a unique conference devoted to anticorruption compliance in Russia, Kazakhstan, Ukraine, Belarus and Azerbaijan. The full day conference took place in Dentons' Moscow office.

Marat Mouradov, Moscow partner and head of Competition and Compliance practice, opened the conference and moderated the first session dedicated to anticorruption regulation in Russia. Snezhana Sharova, Moscow associate, spoke about anticorruption regulation in Russia and Ethan Heinz, Moscow of counsel, focused his presentation on the application of the FCPA and UK Bribery Act in Russia.

The second session covered anticorruption compliance in Ukraine, Belarus, Kazakhstan and Azerbaijan. The speakers of this session were Volodymyr Monastyrsky, Kyiv partner, Elena Maksimenko, Almaty associate, Sona Taghieva, Baku associate, and Tatiana Ignatovskaya, partner and advocate at SPP Minsk.

The event was attended by legal counsels and compliance managers from leading international and Russian companies.
