

Dentons recognized in ranking of top regulatory law firms in Poland for 2016

February 1, 2016

Dentons' Warsaw office has been recognized by Polityka Insight in all categories of its "Ranking of regulatory law firms 2016". Dentons was the only law firm to be recognized in all five legal fields: banking, energy, competition, telecommunications and life sciences.

Law firms were evaluated according to four criteria: comprehensiveness of services, industry perception, client perception and the results of English-language rankings (Chambers Europe and Legal 500). The Polityka Insight ranking covers law firms providing regulatory advice in connection with public commercial law enforced by agencies such as the Office of Competition and Consumer Protection, the Energy Regulatory Office and the Polish Financial Supervision Authority.

The results of the "Ranking of regulatory law firms 2016" were revealed at an awards gala on 28 January in Warsaw. Igor Ostrowski, Head of Technology, Media and Telecommunications group in Europe, represented Dentons at the gala.
