

Dentons joins the CEO Action for Diversity & Inclusion pledge

February 6, 2018

Washington, DC—Dentons, the global law firm, joined the CEO Action for Diversity & Inclusion™, a coalition of more than 350 CEOs committed to advancing diversity and inclusion in the workplace. The pledge further establishes the Firm's commitment to cultivating and maintaining an environment where all employees feel empowered.

By signing the pledge, Dentons joins a coalition driven by raising awareness and creating a work environment where employees feel comfortable to discuss challenges, opportunities, and perspectives. Dentons represents one of only 30 professional services companies to take the pledge, further cementing the Firm's unwavering dedication to promoting diversity and inclusion globally.

"I am extremely proud that Dentons is one of the first law firms to sign the CEO Action for Diversity and Inclusion pledge. We believe our core values and business objectives must enmesh a commitment to capitalize on and maximize the unique status, gifts and talents of our lawyers and professionals," said US CEO Mike McNamara. "By actively fostering diversity through programs, partnerships and alliances—both here in the United States and globally—we can establish the inclusive society we desire today, so tomorrow's generation can confidently advance beyond our own."

The CEO Action for Diversity & Inclusion™ was launched in 2017 by a group of CEOs and leaders of the world's leading companies and business organizations and is the largest CEO-driven commitment focused on enhancing diversity and inclusion in the workplace.
