

Dentons welcomes Emil Vidrascu as partner in our Litigation group

June 16, 2020

Dentons is pleased to announce that Emil Vidrascu has returned to the Firm as a partner in our Litigation and Dispute Resolution group in Montréal.

An excellent jurist and skilled litigator, Emil specializes in aboriginal law, construction law and competition law. He also practices in commercial litigation, both before the courts and in private arbitrations, and has developed extensive experience in this area.

"We are delighted that Emil has chosen to return to Dentons. With his 25 years of experience as an exceptional litigator, he will be a tremendous asset to the Firm and our clients," said Claude Morency, Managing Partner of Dentons' Montréal office. "Emil adds to the critical mass of our Litigation group and brings complementary areas of expertise to the Firm. His pragmatic approach and commitment to excellence are perfectly aligned with our desire to always offer the best possible legal services and advice. We are pleased to have him back and we wish him the best of success."

A member of the Québec Bar since 1995, Emil holds a Bachelor of Laws from the Université de Montréal. He also participated as a consultant to the Romanian government in the reform of the Romanian Civil Code, following which a new Civil Code was adopted in 2009.
