We would like to congratulate Sirote attorney Lenora Pate for being named to the Birmingham Business Journals "Who's Who in Health Care" List for 2020. Every year, this exclusive issue of the publication showcases the metro area's major contributors to the healthcare industry and acts as a resource guide to keep readers informed of leaders in Birmingham's healthcare industry.

Lenora is no stranger to recognition and accomplishments. Professionally, Lenora has been ranked in Chambers USA (Health Care) every year since 2017 and earned an AV Preeminent Peer Review Rating™ from Martindale Hubbell®. She has also received recognition by Mid-South Super Lawyers in Health Care every year since 2008 and was named the Best Lawyers® Health Care Law "Lawyer of the Year" in Birmingham in both 2016 and 2021, among other honors.

Lenora is the head of the Health Care Practice Group at Sirote. In this capacity, she advises all types of healthcare providers, institutions, practices, professionals, businesses, and related associations on their business legal needs, including federal and state regulatory issues. Additionally, she has significant experience in the areas of government and public policy, including state certificates of need, licensure, and state and federal healthcare, legislative, and regulatory matters. Lenora is a frequent speaker on public policy, health care, and issues affecting women, and she has held leadership positions with several women's organizations.
