

Dentons US stands against hate and violence targeting Asian-American and Pacific Islander communities

March 22, 2021

Over the past year we have seen an escalation in crimes targeting Asian-American and Pacific Islander communities across the country. Sadly this includes the horrific attack on March 16, 2021, that left eight people dead in Atlanta, GA, including six Asian American women. As a Firm, we remain steadfast in our efforts to combat all forms of discrimination, and we condemn any act of racism, bigotry, xenophobia, or violence.

In the US, Dentons has taken a public stance against hate by joining with others in the profession as a signatory to the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association's Stand Against Hate Statement and are committed to adding our voice to those who are speaking out against hate and bias. In addition, we are one of the foundational firms that joined the Law Firm Antiracism Alliance in 2020 and are committed to doing our part to help dismantle systemic racism. Through partnership and guidance from leading advocacy organizations, people with lived experiences in our communities and our Affinity Groups, Dentons is dedicated to addressing social, systemic, and legal issues in the US to provide an inclusive and safe environment for our Firm, our clients and the communities in which we live and serve.

Dentons supports and stands with our Asian-American and Pacific Islander colleagues, family and friends.

We condemn racism. We stand together against hate.
